The city and regions of Barcelona welcome you with a plenty of options to enjoy your stay.

Sea and beaches, natural parks, art and cultural heritage, gastronomy, wine tourism, "modernista" trails, rural tourism, spas with thermal springs, sports and family activities.

A whole host of possibilities so that you can enjoy leisure, culture and nature.
Barcelona is a vibrant city. Its streets and squares pulsate to the rhythm of a lifestyle resulting from its enviable climate and strategic location that have made it a meeting point for diverse cultures for over a thousand years.

Open and welcoming, Barcelonians have made industriousness and culture the signs of their own identity and offer visitors the delightful rewards of their history and unique personality. An accessible city, surrounded by rivers and mountains that shape a modern metropolis built on a human scale.
From Romanesque to contemporary and avant-garde art, Barcelona and its surrounding area give visitors the opportunity to discover the finest exponents of ten centuries of unique and inimitable artistic creativity.

Barcelona is and has been a source of inspiration and home to the artistic avant-gardes of our age. Works by artists of the calibre of Picasso, Miró and Tàpies can be seen beyond the confines of their museums in the public spaces of a city where the different expressions of contemporary culture coexist with the finest examples of Romanesque art of the 11th and 12th centuries. A powerful legacy everyone can enjoy as a result of the work carried out since the late 19th century to rescue and restore Catalonia’s cultural heritage. Past and present, tradition and a break with tradition. Barcelona and culture are inextricably linked.
Barcelona’s extensive network of museums and galleries showcases a matchless collection of art encompassing the main artistic trends that have helped shape the city’s millennia-old culture.

Barcelona has nine World Heritage buildings and elegantly combines its historic legacy with the most innovative architecture. Contemporary architects like Jean Nouvel, Frank Gehry and Norman Foster have made their mark on a city that bears the indelible stamp of its innovative home-grown art nouveau movement, modernisme, and its maestros: Gaudí, Puig i Cadafalch and Domènech i Montaner. Unesco has recognised Barcelona for its outstanding contribution to the development of architecture and building techniques at the turn of the 19th century, and with good reason.

Caelis – Hotel Ohla Barcelona

Passion for produce, innovation and work

1* Michelin

Tradition and modernity. These are the cornerstones of the culinary offering at Caelis.

The restaurant holds one Michelin star and has been awarded two Suns by the Repsol Guide.

With renowned chef Romain Fornell at the helm, Caelis offers a distinctive blend of cuisine with deep French roots, high levels of creativity and respect for the produce. The menu changes with the season and Romain Fornell only works with the finest quality market-fresh ingredients to create the best tasting menus for every period of the year.

The restaurant has two separate spaces: on one side, the dining room with tables of varying sizes. On the other, an open kitchen with a horseshoe-shaped bar and stools where 12 more guests can watch everything that goes on behind the scenes.

It has also a private room, Caelis Privé, where guests can host private lunches or dinners with dishes prepared and presented by their team of chefs, interacting and chatting with the diners. Caelis Privé can also be used for show cooking sessions and master classes. The room features a huge screen showing everything that is going on in the Caelis kitchen in real time, for an exceptionally unique experience. Menus served at Caelis Privé are different from tasting menus and Caelis Menu. The space seats from 12 to 25 diners at one long table.

In 2017, Caelis moved to Hotel Ohla Barcelona (page 32). The move is also a turning point in the restaurant’s culinary offering and this new era will be more contemporary and less classical.

Marea Alta / Marea Baja

A new Sky Restaurant in Barcelona

The establishment located at the top of the Colón Building, presents a new sky Restaurant in the city of Barcelona. The result is the conjunction of the best views of the city with a space focused on the world of fish, which uses the richness and diversity of its coasts to supply itself, and the embers and smoked fish as a method of execution.

The design of the restaurant recreates a fishing boat, stripped of superfluous elements in order to not to distract the diner of our gastronomic proposal, grilled fish and the gift of unparalleled views.

The 24th floor is for the restaurant. It presents a hexagonal plant optimizing the spaces. The tables are distributed mainly around the windows to allow you to enjoy the view.

The elevators are located in the center of the building, to allow a wide view and divide the restaurant into two spaces even they are communicated between them.

On the 23rd floor we find the cocktail and sangria bar destined to culminate the experience in Marea Alta. It has a Finger Food menu with a kitchen open all day uninterruptedly.

Petit Comitè summarizes the essence of Catalan cuisine combining the best seasonal and proximity products with a contemporary and current presentation. The restaurant is divided into different environments, which invite us to celebrate informal dinners among friends, family gatherings as well as business lunches which require a private space.

Excellent service and the finest produce for lovers of fine dining

Rías de Galicia is a fresh produce restaurant. Honouring Galicia with the presence of many of its gastronomic items, we at Rías look for excellence with obsessive zeal wherever it is. Torre d’Alta Mar

An original, unique setting for an unforgettable gastronomic experience

Located in the San Sebastian Tower, one of the two stations of the cable car that connects the port with Montjuïc Hill. The funicular was designed by Carles Buigas and built in 1929 for the International Exhibition. The tower was closed after the Spanish Civil War but it reopened in 1958 as a banqueting restaurant. The Costa Group, one of Barcelona’s leading restaurant companies, completely refitted the space inside the tower to create one of Barcelona’s most beautiful premiere restaurants. Its simple, elegant design retains the original interior structure of metal girders, which still bear the holes from a bombing raid during the 1936 Civil War. The restaurant serves cosmopolitan signature dishes, blending Mediterranean and Catalan cuisine, and enjoys a prime location, boasting unique views of the city and the sea, 75 metres above the ground.

Located in the industrial district of Poblenou, the atelier stands for the geographical exemplification of a secular spirituality. Endowed with an unmistakably style, it is one of the most exceptional and emblematic ateliers in Europe. Colossal windows allow the daylight to come in, and make you discover the exceptional space: gigantic steel walls and tiled flooring, garments suspended from chains that loop through steel tubes, stone tables and accessories placed as works of art, all of it accurately reflecting Saberi’s experimental nature.

In this industrial paradise, Saberi develops the outlines of his alchemist laboratory for contemporary investigations.

Boris Bidjan Saberi is a half Irish-German, half Russian-Persian menswear designer who matures a peculiar clothing language through his innate heritage between European and Middle-Eastern culture. Raw materials and accurate tailoring fuse together into formless garments, which pay a distinctive attention for functional qualities whilst maintaining a strong connection to urban roots.

Boris Bidjan Saberi presents every season his collections in the official Paris Fashion Week calendar.

Casa Vicens
The first house of Gaudí

Casa Vicens, the first house of Gaudí, and the first important work of the architect, makes available to the visitor one of the key pieces of Antoni Gaudí’s artistic career: the work that marked his point of departure, an architectural gem which was declared a World Heritage Site by UNESCO in 2005.

Constructed between 1883 and 1885 by order of Mr. Manuel Vicens, Casa Vicens is one of the first masterpieces of Modernism, the anticipation of the later work of Gaudí and a vivid example of the airs of aesthetic renewal that were breathed at the end of the 19th century to all of Europe.

Originally, it was projected as a holiday home with a garden, in which geometric shapes and rich ornamentation, inspired by the surrounding vegetation, are present both in the exterior of the house and in its different interior spaces.

Real Club de Golf El Prat

One of Spain’s most luxurious golf clubs just 30 minutes from Barcelona

Dating back to 1912, El Prat is one of the oldest courses in Spain and remains one of only a small number of clubs to have been granted “Real” or Royal status by King Alfonso XIII. It has hosted the Spanish Open on 10 occasions and has welcomed some of the biggest names in golf, including home legends Severiano Ballesteros and José María Olazábal, eight-time Major winner Tom Watson and European Ryder Cup captain Thomas Bjørn.

Set across the 518-acre estate of BonVilar – just 35 minutes from the centre of Barcelona – El Prat makes clever use of its 45 Greg Norman-designed holes, over an exciting, varied mix of three highly acclaimed courses: the Pink – ranked the fourth best course in Spain by Golf Digest magazine – Yellow and Green. It is listed 16th in Golf World magazine’s coveted ‘Top 100 Resorts in Continental Europe 2018’ rankings and 19th in National Club Golfer’s ‘Top 100 Golf Resorts in Continental Europe 2018/19’.

The Bellesguard house is one of the most unique and symbolic works by Antoni Gaudí. Built between 1900 and 1909, it has the longest history.

It became a royal residence in 1408 when King Martin I, the last monarch of the House of Barcelona, moved to Bellesguard to live the last years of his life.

History inspired Antoni Gaudí to create his unique masterpiece in Bellesguard, a castle that is architecturally mid-way between Gothic and Modernism.

The building is imbued with symbolism and allusions to the past. It is surrounded by beautiful gardens where you can lose all sense of time and live the essence and magic of Gaudí’s most unknown, exclusive and fascinating work. Antoni Gaudí’s Torre Bellesguard is a jewel of Catalan modernism, a unique treasure to discover, without queues and crowds.
